Notable Leaders in Architecture, Engineering & Construction 2026

New York City's growth depends on bold design and construction. Our Notable Leaders in Architecture, Engineering & Construction for 2026 are preserving history, advancing housing, sustainability and community-focused development.

Ariel Aufgang

Principal

Aufgang.

Current scope of work: At his eponymous firm, Ariel Aufgang works on designing multifamily affordable housing. In the past decade alone, Aufgang Architects has designed more than 13 million square feet of built space, comprising more than 13,000 residential units across more than 100 multifamily developments.

Big win: Aufgang designed North Cove Apartments, completed last year. Capitalized at $410 million, it is a 611-unit affordable waterfront community in Inwood. The development is 600,000 square feet with 61,000 square feet of commercial space.

Other contributions: Aufgang is involved with the American Institute of Architects and American Planning Association.
